

Redbacks Engineering is located at Caboolture North of Brisbane. Established in 1975, Redbacks is locally owned and operated and takes great pride in quality workmanship. Redbacks is based in South East Queensland – but have the capabilities to service customers Australia wide.

Redbacks Engineering is happy to assist with any up and coming projects – whether it is a small modification/repair or a larger project. Our team has an extensive skill base, covering a diverse range of services. We have combined the skills and experience of our supervisors and employees to assist in the high standard and quality of work produced by our team.

The Redbacks team can help with the design and detailing, through to the fabrication and the completion. We love a challenge, so if you have ever had an idea – come in and see us and we will work together to make it happen!
